DETAILED ACTION

1. The claims 1-15 are pending in the instant office action.

Restriction

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions, which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1

Group I. Claims 1-7, drawn to therapeutic composition comprising lysyl oxidase polypeptide comprising SEQ ID NOs:1-8 and method of identifying active portion of pro-peptide from said lysyl oxidase polypeptide .

Group II. Claims 8-15, Drawn to method of using said therapeutic composition in method of treatment of patient.

The inventions listed as Groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Inventions group I and group II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case polypeptide comprising SEQ ID NOs:1-8 can be used by other process having different special technical feature such as to make antibody.

Furthermore', the technical feature linking group I-II appears to be that they all relate to lysyl oxidase comprising propolypeptide. Lysyl oxidase comprising propolypeptide does not constitute a "special technical feature" as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, because it does not claim a feature, which defines a contribution over the prior art, as Lysyl oxidase comprising a propolypeptide is taught by Uzel et al. ( JBC 2001, vol. 276, 22537-543.).

Election of Species: This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention ( claim 1). These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. The species are the 8 different polypeptides comprising different amino acid sequences ( SEQ ID NOs: 1-8). Each polypeptide having unique amino acid sequence has a structure which is different from other polypeptide having different amino acid sequences.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement is traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Art Unit: 1652

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
